STRIKING MINERS NOT WEAKENING

J. Dugdale, of Bellevue, in a communication to the Herald on the situation in the Pass strike area, states that a Blairstmore report on June 13 was in error when it stated that Frank Leahy had quit the Pass. Speaking for the Blairstmore and Bellevue miners' body, Mr. Dugdale says Frank Leahy and A. Fraser went to Vancouver on business connected with international relief and will return this week. This was announced, it is stated. Harvey Murphy, union organizer, the communication continues, has no intention of leaving the district and will stay in the strike field. "No pickets have been withdrawn except in the case of fire hoses on promise that they would load no coal on Monday, the wire states, and continuing it is explained that the meetings at the west end were only to consider proposals of General Sup. Foerst on terms for opening negotiations. Mr. Dugdale says there is no weakening on the part of the men and the strike continues solidly with a determination on the part of all to continue the strike against discrimination. Mr. Dugdale is secretary of the Bellevue local.

MRS. W. CRAYFORD CELEBRATES 51st BIRTHDAY

Mrs. William Crawford was pleasantly surprised on Wednesday afternoon, at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnson, of the North Fork, when a few friends gathered to congratulate Marion the occasion of her 51st birthday.

Mrs. Crawford is well and hearty, still able to perform her household duties, besides making three quilts and numerous other fancy needle work throughout the winter evenings, with the aid of eyeglasses.

All her friends join in wishing for themselves the blessing of her friendship for many more years. May the evening of her life be quiet and sweet. Her days have been ardent and toilsome.

Among those present were: Mrs. J. Graham, Mr. Dick Graham, Misses Violet and Charlotte Crawford, Master Dick Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Thomas W. Hills (Blairstmore), Mr. and Mrs. H. Robinson and Jack.

Departmental examinations are being held in the district school this week.

Suffering from a broken shoulder the result of a motor accident at Purple Springs, L. C. Brennan, traveller for Willard's chocolates branch office, Calgary, is an inmate of Galt hospital. Trying to get on the right side of the road to avoid a Chautauqua truck, the car Brennan was driving went into loose gravel, into the ditch and the next field. The door of the car flung open, he was thrown out and fell on his shoulder. "Louie" is a former resident of Coleman, and well known in the Crows' Nest Pass.

At last there is the perfect fish story, according to the classic definition of what constitutes news, a fish bites a bite from a very large trout. It happened on one of the trout pools in Yarmouth County, Nova Scotia, near Kemptville, according to the Fish and Game Department of the Canadian National Railways. While fishing in one of the numerous trout pools thereabouts, a fisherman got a bite from a very large trout. After playing it for some time, the trout appeared about to surrender and not having a landing net handy, the fisherman attempted to use his hands, putting one of his thumbs in the trout's mouth and a finger back of the gills. The trout promptly bit the thumb and managed to work itself clear and with a final flick of its tail escaped back into the water.

Without Altering Diet

To reduce weight without any attention to diet is rather more than anyone should expect. That the diet should not have been exceeded in this case, is a great tribute to its effectiveness.

"When I started taking Kruschen Salt, my weight was 170 lbs. That was seven months ago. I decided that was too heavy, and now, though the heat temperature of Kruschen Salt is 120°, I tip the scale at 150 lbs. I have been that weight for nearly four months. I may say I am much better, I did not eat meat for a week, and I never did.

Kruschen Salt do not reduce you overnight—like so many products claim to do. But taken regularly over a period of time, it will give you a good and gentle exercise, half a teaspoonful in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast will take away any healthy flesh and restore you to its normal weight. Yet at the same time—build up health with a great increase in vigor and energy for you!

Brighter Prospects

Saskatchewan Farmers Will Profit By Past Experiences

With his crop grown the hope of the Saskatchewan farmer. Saskatchewan today is a far brighter province than some months ago, with present indications pointing to excellent wheat production this season. Soil tillers throughout the province are encouraged in the hope that harvest time will find sufficient money to carry on independent of government relief.

Government officials say one good crop will make this possible. One good crop will disperse the cloud of poverty which so long has enveloped the farm lands of Saskatchewan. One good crop will relieve Saskatchewan of the tremendous burden they have been forced to share in the effort to support 275,000 people affected by drought which in many districts has ruined three successive crops.

Through it all the farmer is hopeful. Happy in the thought of what a crop will bring to him. Even when forced to appeal for food, clothing and fuel and fodder, the farmer would not dare defeat him.

E. B. Daniels, commissioner of relief, is high in his praise of the spirit of the farmer. Men owning vast tracts of land, but at present without a cent of cash, have come to the relief commission, Mr. Daniels said, and accepted help only in the nature of a loan. "They'll pay back everything they owe," Mr. Daniels said. "They are not dispirited, and have faith in each succeeding crop."

From impressions gathered while interviewing men applying for relief, Mr. Daniels believes the farmer never again will be caught under similar circumstances. Men have told him they lost a great deal in stock speculation and speculative farming. Now, Mr. Daniels is convinced, the farmer will not be looking toward big returns and will be content to make a comfortable living for his family.

Even with grain prices down at today's low level the farmers expect to make sufficient money this year to re-establish their farms. The commissioner thinks stricter economies will be practised by the farmer and farms will be more self contained. There was so little feed in the prairie during the winter that 500 railway carsloads had to be brought in from the prairie provinces, and last in future, fodder sufficient to supply the farmer's individual needs probably will be produced by the farmer himself.

Another measure of economy is the return to horse-power on the farms, due to the high cost of gasoline and oil here. Possible shortage of horses with a subsequent revival in western Canada of horse-breeding is predicted by government agricultural men.

Through all their difficulties the farmers have never lost their morale. Even to the far north where some 2,500 families are re-establishing themselves in the Meadow Lake district after drought and sweeping winds had forced them to desert their farms in the south, there is no talk of quitting. The Saskatchewan farmer has taken his "hard-times" medicine like a man—and is looking for it to him.

RECIPE FOR THIS WEEK
(By Betty Barclay)

CHERRY JELLY

(Any kind except wild or choke-cherries)

3 cups $\frac{1}{2}$ lbs. juice.
6½ cups (2½ lbs.) sugar.
1 bottle fruit pectin.

To prepare juice, stem and crush 3 pounds ripe cherries. Do not pit. Add $\frac{1}{2}$ cup water, bring to a boil, cover, and simmer 10 minutes. (For stronger cherry flavor, add $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon almond extract before pouring.) Place fruit in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice.

Measure sugar and juice into a large saucepan and mix. Bring to a boil over hottest fire and at once add fruit pectin, stirring constantly. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard $\frac{1}{2}$ minute. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jelly at once. Makes about nine 8-ounce glasses.

CAKE PUDDING

1 package chocolate jello.

1 pint milk.

Cut leftover cake in small cubes and put a heaping tablespoon in each of four dessert glasses. Prepare chocolate jello according to directions on the package. Pour one over the cake. Let stand in warm room until firm—about 10 minutes. Then chill. This may be topped with whipped cream if desired.

The number of new automobiles on French highways is increasing this year.

Contract Bridge

By Hamlin B. Hatch, Olympic Champion, Cavendish Club, Toronto

In my last article the salient features of the Approach-Forcing System were given. Edna Lyle's review of the Official System, this system was devised by the united efforts of several bridge experts to remedy what they considered were defects in the Approach-Forcing System. Added to this was the idea that the conventional part of the game could be made easier for the average player.

The Official System differs from the Approach-Forcing System only slightly. The chief differences are noted below.

1st. The Opening Bid of One.

In the Official System the opening bid of one is made on a hand containing from two to three and a half quick tricks, and guarantees that in the bidding hand the bidding hand will take from four to five tricks. This is practically the same as the minimum opening bid of one in the Approach-Forcing System.

2nd. The Opening Bid of Two.

The opening bid of two is made on a hand containing from three and one-half to six honor tricks and guarantees that in the declared suit the bidder will take at least six tricks. The bid is called an intermediate bid and its declaration constitutes the chief difference between the Approach-Forcing and Official Systems. This bid does not demand a response if partner's hand contains one honor trick or strong distributional values.

It is true that on certain types of hands this bid gives good results but opponents of this bid maintain that it gives too much information to the opposing side and therefore tends to nullify the chance of making penalty doubles. It is generally believed by experts that its disadvantages outweigh its advantages.

On the other hand it gives precision of information to one's partner and amongst average players this precision of information is a valuable asset. But if it is conceded that the present day game of contract is a battle of wits, with the main battle being fought before the cards go on the table, then it is logical to think that the use of any bidding method which gives too much information to the opposing side is bad strategy if not bad tactics.

Personally I am of the opinion that applied to most types of hands this certain type of hand comes often enough to warrant the inclusion of this bid in any system. For on the average it may be said that in the Official System over eighty per cent of the opening bids are bids of one.

The opening bid of three in the Official System is similar to its application to the opening bid of two in the Approach-Forcing System. It is a demand bid and guarantees game for the particular deal in which it is made.

Except then for the variations in the opening bid of three, the Official and the Approach-Forcing Systems are practically aligned.

The Jump-Shift bids are forcing in both systems and methods of overcalling are alike. The weak no trump response by partner to an opening bid of one is identical in both systems. The no trump original bid is used more frequently in the Official System than in the Approach-Forcing simply because the bids made on four card suits in the Official System must have a stronger honor trick four card suit than is required by the Approach Forcing.

However, both systems are easy to play and it is not a hard matter for any player to familiarize himself thoroughly with the salient differences between them, so that he can play whichever system his partner desires him to play.

In the next article the One Over One and the Vanderbilt Club will be discussed.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JUNE 10

JACOB THE AGED FATHER

Golden Text: "Honor thy father and thy mother."—Exodus 20:12.
Lesson: Genesis 46:1-7; 28-30; 47:1-52.
Devotional Reading: Luke 2:41-52.

Explanations and Comments

Jacob and His Family Journey To Goshen. 46:1-27. The moving scene in our last week's lesson closed with all barriers down. Joseph and his brothers were in prison in Egypt, and Joseph planned with them for their speedy settlement in Egypt.

Laden with presents—raiment and silver and all the good things of Egypt, they started their journey to Goshen. "Jacob is yet alive, and is ruler over all the land of Egypt," was the astounding news they brought to their father, who had so long been told for Jacob as dead. He could not believe them at first. When he saw the wagons which Joseph had sent to transport his household he cried, "It is enough; Joseph my son is yet alive; I will go and see him before I die."

At last all was ready for the journey to Egypt—Jacob's sons in tow, and his wife and their goods.

At Beer-sheba, on the border of the sand waste which lay between them and Egypt, the caravan halted and camped for the night. Every member of Jacob's household was in it. In a vision that night Jacob received God's assurance that the journey to Egypt was for the best, and the promise that his sons would become a great nation was repeated.

The prospect of any greatness still seemed remote at this time. These wandering clans need not be a power to any nation.

The meeting of Jacob and Joseph. Genesis 46:28-34. On the confines of Egypt they were met by Joseph. Like a king Joseph had sent for his father, and like a king he came to meet him. And his imperial carriage drawn by Egyptian horses, but like a son he fell on his father's neck and wept.

"It may be a grand thing to sit on a high stool and wear a crown, but it is an infinite grandier thing, a 'lordlier chivalry,' to come off the stool and go away to meet him a mile or two on the road; and do not care how poor the cot—if you have a little sentiment in you, a little tenderness and nice feeling. These are qualities that sweeten life."—Joseph Parker.

"William's faults come from impetuosity, as well as conceit, and calmness and firmness are the most powerful weapons in such cases."

The latest letters furnish evidence of a weariness and longing for rest, but a sense of duty prevailed over that weariness, and up to within a few days of her death she signed documents and attended to business.

Queen Victoria's Letters

Published in London

Name Of Former German Kaiser Occupies Frontmost Place

The final volume of Queen Victoria's letters, covering the last five years of her life, has been published in London, England, disclosing that she once wrote "It wouldn't do" to give former Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany "a good snub."

The letters revealed that the last years of the octogenarian sovereign were marked among other things, by less caustic criticism of national and international events.

The name of the former kaiser occupies a prominent place in the letters, in which the late queen is revealed as an advocate of forbearance when his doings aroused hostility.

This was particularly noticeable at the time of the Boer War when the kaiser sent a telegram to President Kruger of the Transvaal in South Africa, which excited indignation on the part of the British nation. Queen Victoria shared in the indignation, but kept her restraint.

"It wouldn't do," she wrote, "to give him a good snub. Sharp, cutting answers and remarks only irritate and do harm, and in sovereigns and princes should most carefully be guarded against."

"William's faults come from impetuosity, as well as conceit, and calmness and firmness are the most powerful weapons in such cases."

New Type Of Cement

Alkal In Western Soils Will Not Destroy It

A short address by Dr. T. Thorvaldson, chemical professor, University of Saskatchewan, marked the closing session of the fifteenth annual convention of the Canadian Chemical Association which was held in Hamilton, Ontario. A distinct Canadian achievement, the invention of a new type of cement which would resist the destruction wrought by the alkali present in western soils, was discussed by Dr. Thorvaldson. The new invention is expected to save millions of dollars a year, the western professor said, to builders, roadmakers and waterworks systems.

Beats Speed Record

World's Fastest Train Time Again Made By British Train

The world's train speed record for a regular train has again been broken by the Great Western Railway's London-Cheltenham flyer.

With seven coaches, 34 tons, the engine travelled the 77½ miles from Swindon to London in 56 minutes and 47 seconds, an average speed of 81.9 miles an hour.

Dogs Plenty Of Harm

Nothing does more harm and provokes more mischief than the well-meaning efforts of the pugnacious canine, with his superficial glamour about issues of which he knows nothing, and can know nothing, because he is mentally incapable of seeing two sides to a question, and becomes white with anger after five minutes of argument.—Hong Kong Press.

Uses Dog As Advertiser

A Denver theatre owner has a dog that serves as "sandwich-man" for him. The dog is trained to stop and look into windows so that pedestrians can read the sales message. The sign is supported above the dog's head with a framework that allows the staff to hold it upright by clamping down its teeth.

The temperature on Neptune is estimated to be about 400 degrees below zero.

THE HOUSE OF DREAMS-COME-TRUE

—BY— MARGARET PEDLER

"The Splendid End," "The Hermit Of Far End," Hodder & Stoughton, Ltd., London.

"No," he said slowly. "No. The boiling over part is done with—finished."

"I'm going to take her away from him."

He spoke with a curious precision. It frightened Jean far more than any impetuous outburst of anger could have done. She made no answer for a moment, but her mind worked rapidly. She did not doubt the absolute sincerity of his intention. This was no mere reckless boast of an angry lover, but the same, considered aim and object of a man who has come by way of some long agony of thwarting, to a set determination.

"Do you mean that, Nick?" she asked at last, to gain time.

"Do I mean it?" he laughed. Then his hands gripped the arms of the chair and he leaned forward. I saw her—last evening after dinner. . . . Her shoulder was black."

A sharp cry broke from Jean's lips.

"Nick stopped."

"He had struck her. There was one of the usual scenes when they got back from the Moor—and he struck her. . . . It's the first time he has ever actually laid hands her. It's going to be the last!" grimly.

Jean was silent. Her whole soul was in revolt against the half-mad, drug-ridden creature who was making of Claire's life a daily martyrdom; the instinct to protect her, to succour her in every way, asserting itself with almost passionate force. And yet—she knew that Nick's way was not the right way.

"Yes, it must be the last time," she agreed. "But—but, Nick, your plan won't do you know."

Nick stiffened.

"Think not!" he said curtly. "Can you suggest a better?" Then, as Jean remained miserably silent: "Nor can I. And one thing I swear—I will leave the woman I love to the hands of a man who is practically a maniac, to be tortured day after day, mentally and physically, just whenever he feels like it!"

Lydia E. Finch's Vegetable Compound
She's Up in the Air Again
For the love—she's first to suffer when monthly pains sharper her nerves. Lydia E. Finch's Vegetable Compound would ease that awful agony.

W. N. U. 1946

It struck Jean as curious that Nick had been able, more or less, to keep himself in hand whilst Sir Adrian inflicted upon Claire whatever of mental and spiritual torture seemed good in his distorted vision. It was the fact that he had hurt her physically, laid his hand upon her in actual violence, which had scattered Nick's self-control to the four winds of heaven. To Jean herself, it seemed conceivable that the mental anguish of Claire's married life had probably far outstripped any mere bodily pain. Half-tortured she gave expression to her thoughts.

"Oh, God!" he exclaimed. "If you were a man, you'd understand. I see men when I think of that damned brute striking the woman I love. It—it was sacrifice!"

"And won't it be—another kind of sacrifice—if you take her away with you, Nick?" asked Jean very quietly. He flushed duly.

"He'll divorce her, and then we shall marry," he answered.

"Even so—steadily—it would be doing evil that good may come."

"Then we'll do it—savagely. It's easy enough for you to sit there moralizing, perfectly placid and comfortable. Claire and I have borne all we can. It has been had enough to care as we care for each other, and to live apart. But when it means that Claire is to suffer unspeakable misery and humiliation while I stand by and look on—why, it's beyond human endurance. You're not tempted. You've no conception what you're talking about."

Jean sat very still and silent while Nick stormed out the bitterness of soul, recognizing the truth of every word he uttered—even the gibes which, in the heedlessness of his own pain, he flung at herself.

Presently she got up and moved rather slowly across to his side.

"Nick," she said, and her eyes, looking into his, were very bright and clear and steady. Somehow for Nick they held the semblance of two flames, torches of pure light, burning unflickeringly in the darkness. "Nick, every word you say is true. I'm not tempted as you and Claire have been, and so it seems sheer cheek my interfering. But I'm only asking you to do what I pray I'm strong enough to do in like circumstances. I don't believe any true happiness can ever come of running away from duty. And if ever I'm up against such a thing—a choice like this—I hope to God I'd be able to hand on to you straight, even if it half killed me to do it."

The quick, impasse-utterance ceased, and half shrinkingly Jean realized that she had spoken out of the very depths of her soul, crystallizing in so many words the uttermost ideal and credo of her being. In some strange, indefinable fashion it was borne in on her that she had reached an epoch of her life. It was as when a musician, arrived at the end of a musical period, strikes a chord which holds the keynote of an ensuing passage.

She faltered and looked at Nick hesitatingly; suddenly self-conscious, as we most of us are when we find we have laid bare a bit of our innermost soul to the possibly mocking eyes of a fellow human being.

But Nick's eyes were not in the least mocking.

Instead of that, some of the hardness seemed to have gone out of them, and his voice was very gentle, as tall as Jean's two hands in his he

"I believe you would run straight, little Jean—even if it meant tearing your heart out of your body to do it; but you, you're always on the side of the angels—instinctively. I believe I might stick my part of the business—but I can't stick for her."

"And yet," urged Jean, "if you go away together, Nick, it's she who'll pay, you know. The woman always does. Supposing—supposing Sir Adrian doesn't divorce her—and refuses to? It would be just like him to pursue that way. What about Claire then?"

"She would divorce her," protested Nick harshly.

"I don't think so. Honestly. I believe he would get undiluted satisfaction out of the fact that, as long as he lived, he could stand between Claire and everything that a normal woman wants—home, and a sheltered life, and the knowledge that no one can say things about her. Oh, Nick, Nick! Between you— and Sir Adrian—you'd make an outcast of Claire, make her life a worse hell with you than it is without you!" She paused, then went on more quietly: "Have you said anything to her about this—told her what you want her to do?"

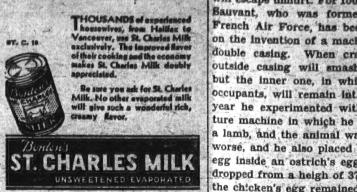

"No, not yet—not definitely."

French Aviator Will Attempt Daring Stunt

To Demonstrate New Machine Will Crash With Occupants Unhurt

M. Sauvage, a French aviator, proposes to crash to earth in a blazing aeroplane from a height of 3,000 feet. He declares that he and his mechanic will escape unhurt. For four years, M. Sauvage, who was formerly in the French Air Force, has been working on the invention of a machine with a double casing. When crashing, the outside casing will burst, he says, but the inner one, in which are the occupants, will remain intact. Last year he experimented with a miniature machine in which he had placed a lamb, and the animal was none the worse, and he also placed an ostrich's egg, which he removed unbroken. "My system is adaptable to land or sea machines," he says. "I shall rise with my mechanic, to a height of 3,000 feet, and then fall, setting fire to the machine as we come down. When we have crashed and the fire is out my mechanic and I will emerge unburnt from the inner casing."

St. CHARLES MILK UNSWEETENED EVAPORATED

Jean breathed a quick sigh of relief.

"Then don't! Promise me you won't Nick?"

"She might refuse, after all," he suggested, evading a direct answer.

"Refuse! You know her better than that. If you wanted Claire for yourself tomorrow, you know she'd be all yours!"—and laughing a little hysterically, "pretend too, that she enjoyed the prospect of being grilled."

No, Nick, it's up to you. I just go on helping to make her life bearable, as you have done for the last two years."

"It's asking too much of me, Jean."

Nick spoke a little thickly. He was up against one of man's most primitive instincts—the instinct to protect and comfort and cherish the woman he loved.

"I know. It's asking everything of you."

Jean waited. She felt that she had gained a certain amount of ground that Nick's resolution had weakened a little, in response to her pleading, but also feared to drive him too far. She fancied she could hear steps crossing the floor below. If someone should come upstairs and disturb them now, while things were still trembling in the silence.

"See, Nick," she began to speak again hurriedly. "You believe I'm your pal—your—your and Claire's?"

"I know it," he replied quietly.

"And— and you do a bit about me?" smiling a little.

"You're the third woman in my world, Jean." After Claire and my mother?"

World Goes Far In Sanitation During Last Twenty Years

A catalogue issued by a school for the nobility of Saint Cyr, France, 20 years ago, was discovered recently. It shows how far we have come in the matter of personal cleanliness and sanitation since that time. Pupils at this school were entitled to one suit of underwear, one pair of stockings and two handkerchiefs a month. One towel had to last a week without laundering. One foot bath monthly and three complete baths yearly, one each in May, June and July, were prescribed.

Earl Of Egmont Estate Valued At

Two Hundred Thousand Pounds

The London Daily Telegraph says the Earl of Egmont, former Priddis, Alta., rancher who was fatally injured in an automobile crash near Southampton, left an estate of £282,522.

The newspaper estimated the net value of the estate, after deduction of succession and other state levies, at £211,400.

The earl, who lived with his son in the kitchen of Avon Castle, left no will, and letters of administration, until further representation shall be granted, are in the name of the Royal Bank of Scotland at Edinburgh.

The earl's direct heir is his son, Viscount Perceval, a young man of 18 who will ride and brand a calf with the best of the hands on his father's ranch at Priddis.

Northern Trading Post Benefits By Payment For Fur Catch

These are happy days for the Indians at Wabatowin, Mile 137, H.B.R. They have sold their furs, and received cash from the buyers. They are living high, enjoying the white man's food, the luxury of lazing around town, and spending money. Indians are dancing, celebrating the close of a long winter on the trap lines.

One Indian got $1,700 for his fur. At the trading post he had every appearance of putting every last cent into circulation.

J. R. Kerr, old fur buyer from the Pas, Man., came down the line this week with a heavy shipment of baled furs for Winnipeg.

ENCOURAGEMENT TO THE RATTLESNAKES

The Toronto Star is in a great fuss over the prospective fate of the eight, or is it nine, seditious aliens now in the quarantine shed at Halifax. Will they be expelled from Canada? We make no bones of saying that we hope they will.

If the evidence bears out what their deeds and words of violence have already proclaimed, Canada cannot shake this vermin off any too soon. So far, only one native-born has been discovered in this venomous cluster and he has been promptly carted back, at the public expense, to Winnipeg, where he lets off a blast against his mother country which would entitle him to treatment in the land where Mussolini holds sway. Having graduated from the school himself, and knowing how pernicious the course of study is, it Due no sooner arrives at right opinions than he proceeds to deal with Reds and Communists in a wise and summary manner. If they don't keep their mouths shut he gives them something which is supposed to cure them of their wickedness. If the "treatment" fails to cure he puts them in jail and keeps them there. He has to do this because Italy is not an immigrating country and must take care of its own trouble-makers.

In Canada, as good luck has it, we are able to kick the foreign Reds out if they become too obnoxious and in this respect we are bound to say the Government has exercised the greatest moderation. The Reds have been given a long tether in this country. The little group now in jail at Halifax represents only a small fraction of the possible candidates. There is a limit to our long suffering patriotism and these fellows, with their drum beating, their tub thumping, their propaganda among school children, their blasphemy of the Union Jack, their impudent parades, and their incitements to violence have tried us too far—EX.

CORRESPONDENCE

Bellevue, Alberta,
June 12, 1932.

To the Premier of Alberta,
Honorable Mr. Brownlee:

We, the striking miners of Blairmore and Bellevue, employees of the West Canadian Lillieries, in meeting last Friday, June 12, to discuss terms for the settlement of our strike, wish to bring to the attention of yourself and the people of Alberta the following:

According to the press during the past week a committee representing the coal operators came before you and asked for stricter police "supervision" etc., in the Crows' Nest Pass and generally left the impression in the public mind that there is a situation in the Crows' Nest Pass as a result of our strike where public order and life is not safe.

Over thirty police are stationed here to date, and on occasions seventy-five to eighty are brought in. During four months of strike thirteen or fourteen strikers have been arrested for picketing. The trials are not over as yet and no violence of any kind is proven.

No one can prove that the miners have stolen one thing, nor that there is a break-down as far as public order is concerned. From the side of the miners, the police have certainly been far from lax, and have in fact been very zealous when it came to arresting miners, and we can cite many unfair prosecutions and clumsy frame-ups, while on the other hand a secret organization based on ignorance and bigotry, viz. the K.K.K., has list been burning crosses, sending threatening letters to strikers' homes. The secretary of our union, Mr. Stokaluk was shot at from ambush, and not police, citizens, leagues, etc. can we arrest has been made and if need be we can quote more cases of the breaking of law, but on the side of miners is only a "Red Herring" to those that oppose us.

Still these same people, or those against the miners, are inciting bonfires from the public treasury, in against us and it is clear to us that the men of shipping subsections, etc. they want another Estevan, where bonfires are out to establish seab con-the police shot into a parade of unionists in the mines; destroying unarmed miners, their children, and ionism, to enforce wage-cuts and wives, killing three and wounding speed up to lay off more miners, worsen the conditions in the mines.

We can see no other reason for the agitation on part of the coal opera-more miners, a programme to which they want to and against supervision" than that they want to provoke another Estevan.

We are determined not to allow solid, and we will continue to till we another Estevan, and if the operators win.

are determined to develop one, we will be prepared.

There are throughout the Crows' at least as much consideration, as Nest Pass some business men, and other allies of the operators are organizing a so called "Citizens' League to "Combat Communism, and to enforce law and order."

We understand the same people that are fostering this organization also back the K.K.K. and is undoubtedly an open expression of that secret terrorist K.K.K. This organization is undoubtedly out to smash our strike, our union and all working-class organizations and drive us into seab conditions and we will fight this to the last.

These same people are out for deportations against any worker that does not agree with their political ideas, who strikes for union conditions and will not be intimidated, or who has communistic ideas.

It has always been one of our firm tip to tip. Although the centre points that a man has the right streams are high, some good catches to any ideas he wishes and for full are reported.

freedom of speech, press and assembly.

The Communist party has not been outlawed in this province; and the last convention of the U.F.A., the government party, the Labor party, also a supporter of your Government voted against section No. 91 of the Criminal Code of Canada, under which the Communist party was outlawed in Ontario, and it has as much right to legal existence in Canada as any other political party if this country is a free country.

We miners will vigorously see to it that no member of this party is inhibited and we wish to assure the Communist party that we will give it every assistance in its struggle against the K.K.K., or other organizations such as the "Citizens' League" of the Crows' Nest.

The operators and their press are trying to brand our strike as a pure political strike, and that the only issue here is Communism.

This is a lie, and they know it is a lie! Our strike can be settled any time the operators will agree that no miner will be discriminated and blackballed for his ideas or union activity, and that we will have the full right to belong to whatever organizations we wish to.

We do not ask for a compulsory union dues check-off, or the closed shop. Nor do we ask for the operators to recognize our union.

The operators have already agreed to no wage cut and the old agreement and we are ready to sign-up, but only one thing is prolonging this strike and that is discrimination and blackmail and bigotry, viz. the K.K.K., to hide the real issues, that the operators want another Estevan.

However, we are on the verge of opening negotiations for an honorable settlement and this agitation for more than a week has half way up the pole thousands were crowded around the law courts building "watching the human fly gradually work his way towards the top." His work was made more difficult because of a stiff wind blowing and when he reached the top he was forced to tie himself around the pole for safety. His return to the ground was just as dangerous as the trip up because of the wind but the plucky young sailor was given a thundering cheer by the thousands of watching spectators.

Captain L. D. Douglas, R.N.R., recently named commander of the Pacific steel Queen, the Empress of Japan, largest steel ship ever built in the Pacific, recently brought a big 26,000-ton cargo alongside Pier E, Vancouver within 44 minutes of the Pacific record.

Crop conditions in western Canada are most encouraging and improve rural weather conditions, the quantity and quality of the harvest will go a long way to assist in the recovery of the economy. Grant Hall, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, attended recently on his return from a tour of inspection of the company's property.

Final figures of butter production in Alberta for 1931 amount to 22,957,922 pounds, which holds more than 600,000 pounds above the previous year's total. Closely associated with butter production is a movement initiated by the Canadian Pacific and Provincial Milk Councils to encourage farmers to enlarge their forage crop areas.

Major William G. East, one of Alberta's known columnists, and Lionel Hitchman, veteran defence man of Boston Bruins, landed a big 300-pounder from New Brunswick respectively in May. The Major got his fish at a four-mile trout run in the Canadian Rockies, while Hitchman was fishing at Hart's Pool near Fredericton on the St. John River.

John Cudahy, of Milwaukee, hunting across the Great Divide near Banff, and faced by a furiously charging wounded grizzly bear with a rifle, shot the bear with but one cartridge left in his rifle, really stood his ground and drove the monster at his feet. The bear was shot through the heart and died. The Major had the thrill he experienced on this recent grizzly hunt.

Successes of the burlap trips over weekends and holidays which the Canadian Pacific has put into effect are very gratifying. The great popularity enjoyed during the recent Victoria Day holiday and in week-ends following. To the north of Montreal, the city was literally invaded by the great influx of visitors from eastern Canada and the United States and other big Canadian cities report similar conditions.

Brothers officers of the Canadian Pacific Railway, representatives of transportation systems in Canada and the United States, members of the Montreal Board of Trade, Rotarians and members of the Rotary and Soroptimist clubs from virtually all walks of life united in an impressive tribute to the late George A. Matheson, passenger agent of the railway at Montreal recently. The remains were taken to Winnipeg and interred in Elmwood Cemetery with His Honor James D. McGregor, Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, Major H. Webb, of Winnipeg, and many officers of the government in attendance. His Grace Archbishop Matheson, assisted by the Rev. H. Reed, of St. Luke's Anglican Church, conducted the funeral service. (847)

The Alberta government got to hear of our wedding a few days ago, and right away notified us to the effect that we were subject to the annual tax.

An Aberdonian heard that the young lady he had a notion of marrying was a lover of flowers, so he bought a packet of seed for her birthday.

Standing in front of the law courts in Vancouver is one of the highest flagpoles in the British Empire. It flies its flag 210 feet in the air. A few days ago it became necessary to replace a new rope, but officials were faced with the problem of getting the rope through the pulley at the top of the pole. After scouting around for some time, a young sailor from the new steamship Prince Robert, when operates the Alaskan run from Vancouver in the summer, volunteered and was awarded the task. He had not made much progress before he began to attract attention and by the time he was half way up the pole thousands were crowded around the law courts building "watching the human fly gradually work his way towards the top." Mother's Time Off!

Bobby's asleep! A sound, restful sleep after a round of hard play. But this sleep can only come if Bobby's feeding of milk—the all essential food—has been completely absorbed and easily digested. Nestle's Evaporated Milk has been the answer to this problem for thousands of grateful Mothers.

And here's the reason! Nestle's Evaporated Milk is just the sort of food a mother can give her baby and sterilized in airtight containers. Add water again and you have absolutely pure, safe milk—but more readily digestible than ordinary milk because the large fat globules of the milk have been broken up into smaller droplets of the same size as in Mother's milk. All these droplets form in the stomach when Nestle's Evaporated Milk is used and are soft and flaky and therefore easily digestible.

Use Nestle's Evaporated Milk for Your Baby. Use it in coffee—cocoa—in tea. Use it in all cooking and as a beverage by diluting with one to two parts water.

Nationalism, Good And Bad

If nationalism is destroyed, mankind will be reduced to a helplessly dead level, declared Dr. A. N. Whitehead, of Harvard, representing the British Academy at the Royal Society of Canada meeting in Ottawa. Dr. H. M. Tory, president of the National Research Council of Canada, and former president of the University of Alberta, supplemented this declaration by saying: "No nation has qualified to take its place in the international arena until it has firmly established itself on national grounds. Canada has men of capacity to do this. It is up to us to provide them with the opportunity."

They are quite right, comments the Border Cities Star, if they are speaking of nationalism in the sense of a strong but sensible national pride, which impels scientists and statesmen to achieve greater things than their colleagues in other countries, so that mankind as a whole may benefit, and glory redound to the nation which originates the discoveries or the measure of progress. And it is to such a type of nationalism that one may readily believe men like Dr. Whitehead and Dr. Tory refer.

But there is another sort of nationalism. It is ruining nations; it is stifling mankind. It has brought about the present depression. It is causing unemployment, ruin and suffering. It is heading this war-scarred world inevitably toward a grimmer conflict than any in history; a conflict which, unless it is avoided, may witness the destruction of civilization as we know it.

It is that kind of nationalism which is based in a false conception of racial superiority, where one people look down upon other peoples, where racial and ethnic lines are drawn, where differences in language and religion are emphasized to the supposed advantage of one group of people over other groups. Nationalism founded on false pride and pretensions, based upon purely selfish considerations and at the disregard of all other peoples and nations, nationalism which would seek glory and aggrandizement for itself at the expense of all others, does not seek glory any nation for a place in the international arena, does not lift a nation above other nations; does not raise mankind to a higher level, but reduces all, to a lower level and takes the glory that should be in life out of it.

When, following the Great War, the League of Nations was brought into being, it had for its object the uplifting of all nations, the development in action of a brotherhood of mankind. In keeping with that aspiration the Peace Treaty made provision for the self-determination of races and nations. It provided for a larger liberty for oppressed minorities, and for the world as a whole. But, unfortunately, these newly created smaller nations, as well as many of the older nations, became imbued with the idea that they must first and foremost establish and develop a strong national spirit and consciousness, and this found expression in that narrow form of nationalism to which reference has been made.

This narrow nationalism fostered suspicions of other nations, was built and thrived upon fear of others. It impelled nations, not to remove existing barriers to international intercourse, but to erect new and even more insurmountable barriers. It resulted in a mad race of still greater armaments, the spending of untold billions in preparation for future wars. It led governments the world over to spend and spend madly without due regard to the national income or even of the economic and financial capacities of all nations combined.

Thus narrow nationalism developed at the outset at such a rate and to such an extent that it largely smothered the League of Nations ideal of a true internationalism founded upon a same nationalism which only desired such glory and power for itself as grew out of the fact that it was making a larger and finer contribution to mankind at large than other nations were making.

Until this narrow nationalistic spirit is destroyed there can be no permanent peace, progress and prosperity in the world. In its destruction lies the only hope for mankind.

Chivalry On The Road

Something More Than "Rescuers" Required From Drivers

Legislation works no charm on the roads or elsewhere. It can only create the conditions in which safety can thrive. Ultimately we must protect ourselves. But when that is said, we can only return to an appeal frequently made in this column. As drivers of machines of lethal possibilities, motorists should not content in the crowded conditions of today with what is called "reasonable care." Pedestrians are not so young as they were. The Highway Code has not cured the short-sighted or the hard of hearing. It has not given good legs to the lame. There is a child at every crossing. Nothing short of chivalry is demanded, and from our modern charioteers it is not too much to ask. —Daily Herald, Glasgow.

Sound Proofs His Home

Dance Band Conductor Can Now Practice Without Any Complaints

Jack Hylton, the London dance band conductor, has been driven from flats to hotels and from hotels to houses for five years, trying to find somewhere to practice.

Everywhere people protested, and so now he has built a sound-proof room in the heart of Mayfair.

Mr. Hylton turned a number of garages into a house and made an underground music room. The room has no windows, and the walls are so thick that no sound can be heard outside.

Above the band practice room Mr. and Mrs. Hylton have their living quarters. There are 10 rooms, in each of which is a gramophone and a wireless loud speaker.

Mr. Hylton said that the scheme had been designed by his wife. "It is difficult to try out new compositions in an ordinary house, but as our nearest neighbors are 25 yards away there can be no complaints."

A Grand Old Scorer

Late "Sandy" McIntosh Of Aberdeen-shire Was Great Athlete

The late Alexander McIntosh, of Crathie, Aberdeenshire, may not be known to many in the annals of Scotland, but he was a grand old Scot, just the same.

"Sandy" McIntosh has just died at the age of 81. For sixty-five years he was an annual competitor in the field of sports at the Braemar gathering, near Balmoral Castle. A son of the gentry, he was a man of superb physique, standing over six feet in height. Grey-bearded and possessed of a massive frame, the veteran Highlander headed the Farquharson clan in the annual parades bearing the standard, and his appearance in the arena invariably aroused the admiration of the gatherings round the ring.

The Braemar gathering was the event of the year for "Sandy," awakening as it did memories of the sixties of last century when first he took his place among the competitors in the ring. At 21 he was beginning to make name for himself as a heavy-weight athlete, winning several of the principal awards at Braemar.

At 22, fifty-one years later, he took third place in the caber tossing competition, although his opponents this time included some of the best-known heavyweights in Scotland.

A caber is a sharpened piece of a tree about twenty feet long and weighing enough to be a strenuous lift off the ground for the average man. The tosser has to hoist it up to the palms of his hands, take a short run and then leave the pole so that it will turn over its own length in the air before falling. "Sandy" McIntosh thought that was sport at the age of 72.

Most of the young men of today would be baffled to lift the thing off the ground at all.

Bird's-Eye Maple In Demand

Used Extensively On Account Of Strength and Wearing Qualities

All kinds of furniture are manufactured from Canada's sugar maple, from solid to veneer while the figured veneer of bird's-eye maple is particularly in demand, according to the forest service, Department of the Interior. The strength and wearing qualities of the wood assure it a place in the vehicle industry, where it is used for heavy axles, frames, sleigh runners, factory trucks, bicycle wheels, etc. Because of its toughness it is made into baseball bats, hockey sticks, billiard cues, croquet balls, mallets, etc. The sugar maple is a lasting wood for flooring, and its strength and stiffness suits it for the great variety of tool handles that are made from it.

Seeking Lumber Outlet

Delegation From British Columbia May Go To Orient

Possibility of sending a British Columbia lumber trade delegation to the Orient with the object of enlarging the sale of lower grades of lumber to China and Japan, is under consideration by the timbermen of the province. It was announced by Hon. N. S. Lougheed, Minister of Lands.

The recent United States duty against Canadian lumber will close a market for the low grade product that absorbed 317,000,000 feet from British Columbia last year.

Great Britain and other empire sources are counted on to increase their imports of higher grade lumber from British Columbia.

British Scientists Go North

Will Endeavor To Probe The Mystery Of The Northern Lights

Equipped to send up sounding balloons to an altitude of 10 miles to test weather conditions and also to probe the mystery of northern lights, members of the British Polar Expedition are on their way to their base at Fort Rae, on Great Slave Lake.

The band of scientists is headed by Dr. J. M. Stagg, of the British Meteorological office.

Plans provide for the party remaining at Fort Rae until September, 1933, for the purpose of studying weather conditions in the far north.

The work is part of an international arrangement which is also being participated in by Canada, United States, Denmark, Russia and a number of other countries.

To carry on its investigations in the north, the British party brought six tons of instruments from the Old Country. It also has brought here 10 tons of foodstuffs donated by British and Canadian manufacturers.

Canadian Film

First Canadian Drama-Talkie Is Produced In Toronto

First Canadian drama-talkie, "The Bells," has been produced in Toronto by George Thorne Booth, with Dickon-Konwin, Canadian actor, in the title role. The two-reel film was based on a script used long ago by Sir Henry Irving.

To produce this all-Canadian product many difficulties had to be overcome. It was made in the main gallery of the Fine Arts Building and the cast were all Torontonians. Lack of sound-proof equipment, made remote orchestra control very difficult and even stage bells had to be faked with an ash tray and a timber beam. The cast bells refused to register as bells at all.

The movie-tone has been shown privately.

Should Pay Small Bills

It may sound silly to say that the reason that collections are slow is a sober fact, however. If the people who owe small amounts, from fifty cents to five dollars, let us say, would pay them—and most people are able to do that much—the payment of the larger amounts would be greatly facilitated thereby. As the late Elbert Hubbard wrote, "The ungrateful sin is the disposition to evade the payment of small bills."

The mystery about campaign funds is this: Every one knows they exist, but hardly any one knows whence they come or whether they go.

Sun Spots and Rain

Plenty Of Moisture For Western Grains

FIELDS PREPARED

Western Canada may expect fairly generous rains for some time to come if sun-spot data collected by the Dominion Observatory runs true to form. According to observatory officials, Canada is now approaching a "sun-spot period," which should produce plenty of moisture for the western grain fields.

The effect of sun-spots, it was expected, is to increase the rainfall over a long period.

A sun-spot period lasts for 11 to 14 years. This does not mean that tremendous quantities of rain will fall for a short period, but rather that over a long period the precipitation will be higher than when the sun-spots are not in evidence.

Heavy rains in different parts of the world at present were hardly attributed to sun-spots.

To begin with, in the absence of accurate world data, scientists were unwilling to agree that the rainfall over the world has been exceptionally heavy.

While precipitation has been great in certain countries, it was not so in others.

Certain parts of Canada, for instance, have been exceptionally dry during May, while others have experienced generous rains.

Officials made it clear that a few weeks' heavy rain cannot be explained by sun-spots. Their effect is over a much longer period.

Realizes His Ambition

Swiss Watchmaker Has Brought To Perfection An Electric Watch

A retired watchmaker of Geneva, Switzerland, has just fulfilled his twelve-year ambition to perfect an electric watch. Driven by a fly-power motor, it needs no connection with outside wires. The case itself contains a storage battery no larger than the winding mechanism of most time-pieces, which is declared to hold its charge for a year, and which may be recharged when necessary. Electricity actually operates the watch and does not merely wind a spring, as is the case in self-winding clocks.

SCIENCE COMES TO AID OF THE WESTERN FARMER

Ottawa, Ont.—For the purpose of considering and advising upon the solution of urgent problems of agriculture in all the major divisions of Canada—the Maritimes, Quebec and Ontario, the Prairies and British Columbia—the newly-formed national advisory committee on agriculture of the National Research Council met here.

Dr. H. M. Tory, president of the council, stressed the need of co-operation and co-ordination in working out national problems. Accomplishments of Canadian research organizations working in co-operation during recent years were outlined before the committee.

Dr. Robert Newton, acting director of the division of biology and agriculture, recounted the enormous progress made in the last decade, through research organizations working in co-operation.

The prospect of having rust-resistant wheat in the prairie provinces, free from other diseases and of high milling and baking quality, within 10 years of the organization of the committee which brought all agencies together on a common programme, he described as a scientific accomplishment of the first magnitude.

He also outlined the rust-resistant varieties of wheat from all the agencies which developed them have been pooled for final test. Those selected are being tried out at numerous points, and the resulting grain is to be studied by laboratories of the Dominion Department of Agriculture and the three provincial universities in the west.

The grain research committee since its inception has undertaken several major special investigations. Dr. Newton said there was now in press the final report on the investigation of the drying of grain "which should clear up all points likely to arise." Before the end of the year the committee expects to publish a report of frost injury to grain, the result of work which included artificial frost of grain at the University of Alberta and a study of the consequences in the laboratories of the three prairie universities.

Numerous complaints regarding the effect of the committee method of testing of grain have resulted in the formation of an elaborate investigation. Some years ago the committee began an investigation of the quality of the numerous varieties of wheat grown in the west. The information obtained was of great value to the committee in making its recommendations on the grading of Garnet wheat. "There is now available," Dr. Newton said, "an authoritative classification of the leading varieties and there is no reason why inferior varieties need further be grown."

"If we cannot carry things beyond the range of other people there is no justification for our existence," Dr. Newton declared in outlining the projected program of his division. Studies in agriculture to be undertaken in the new laboratories are to be fundamental in character and of such a nature that they cannot be undertaken elsewhere in Canada.

Referring to Canada's most important agricultural product, wheat, and its furtherance to suggest that certain forms of its components which gives a yellow color to flour (if not bleached out) may be associated with the vitamin value of the flour, Dr. Newton said: "If there is anything to be found out, either for or against our grain, Canada should find out about it first."

The advisory committee adjourned to meet again in November at the time of the royal winter fair in Toronto.

To Discuss Wheat Bonus

Regina, Sask.—Discussion of asking for an extension of the five-cent per bushel bonus on wheat for export, paid by the Federal Government this year, will come up at the inter-provincial conference of the western provinces in Regina on June 20. The primary purpose of the conference will be to draft a memorandum setting forth the west's interest in the coming Imperial Conference.

No United Ireland

North Would Never Be a Party To Separation From Britain

London, England.—Reports in London that present negotiations between the Free State and Britain would be widened, on the Free State side, by attempts to re-open the question of union between the Free State and Northern Ireland, met with a prompt rebuttal from Viscount Craigavon, Premier of Northern Ireland.

Lord Craigavon said union was quite out of the question. "A long time ago," he declared, "we in Ulster made up our minds that we have no change to make. I would never be party to separation from Great Britain in accordance with the Imperial connection." The present British Government and I see eye to eye."

Opinion here is that President de Valera proposes, if he has not indeed already done so, reference of the whole dispute to either an Imperial or international tribunal. His bill for abolition of the oath, regarded by the British Government as the root of the present differences, is deadlocked in the Irish senate, shorn of most of its teeth by an opposition majority.

King George Officials At Ceremony Outside Marlborough House

London, England.—In the presence of the Queen, the Prince of Wales and many other members of the royal family, the King unveiled the memorial to Queen Alexandra, erected by public subscription outside Marlborough House, where Alexandra, as Princess of Wales spent her married life prior to the accession of Edward VII and where she returned after his death.

The ceremony coincided with the annual Alexandra rose day instituted under the late queen's auspices 21 years ago. She died in 1925.

New Governing System

Something Is Needed To Stop Place Of Party Politics

Winnipeg, Man.—Government partnership breaks down in the face of economic difficulties and some new system must be devised, J. W. Dafoe, editor-in-chief of the Winnipeg Free Press, told delegates to the third Canadian conference on social work here.

A new conception of the state in relation to the individual was taking possession of the mind of the people, Mr. Dafoe said. It was not generally appreciated how revolutionary this conception was, nor were its ultimate consequences known.

Lord Brentford was also one of the leading laymen in the Church of England and took a prominent part in the parliamentary battle over the revised book of common prayer.

Ottawa, Ont.—Commemorative postage stamps will be issued in connection with the Imperial Conference. Announcement to this effect was made from the office of Prime Minister R. B. Bennett.

The statement reads: "Authority has been given for the issue of three commemorative postage stamps in connection with the Imperial Conference to be held in Ottawa next month."

These stamps will be in the denominations of three, five and 13 cents.

The three-cent stamp will bear a portrait of the king; the five-cent stamp, the Prince of Wales; and the 13-cent will be a double-sized pictorial stamp.

"These stamps are now in course of preparation, and will be issued on a date to be set after manufacture has been completed."

"There will also be an issue of overprinted air mail stamps for the conference, these stamps being the current five-cent issue of air mail stamps, overprinted six cents, together with other printed stamps relating to the Imperial Conference."

"The denominations in which these stamps will be issued will ensure their use on mail matter going to all parts of the Empire, as well as to many other countries."

Favor Empire Trade

B.C. Industries Would Give United Support To Policy

Victoria, B.C.—Co-operation of Empire trade for the benefit of British countries, and development of an Empire currency as a medium through which this trade could be carried on, would have the united support of British Columbian industries if considered at the Imperial Economic Conference opening next month in Ottawa, according to information received by the British Columbia Government.

WOMAN DELEGATE RETURNS

Fears Expressed That Prospectors May Be Trapped In Burning Bush

Ames, Que.—Far in Quebec's hinterland, forest fires are blazing across a wide area. Fears that some prospectors may be trapped in a country where there is little water to offer their safety are evident. Five Indians fell in flames as the fire spread into the little settlement of Tschersier. And fugitives from the district are telling a tragic story. The fire started several days ago near the Dome and Hollinger mines after settlers had been burning slash. Fanned by a 40-mile wind, the blaze had assumed huge proportions in a few minutes. It spread over miles of brush.

Scorched heads and burned shirts were displayed as the settlers rushed down water-courses and dropped into creeks to avoid the flames. The Abasika Lake and Bell River provided sanctuaries for them after a hurried scramble through slash and muskeg.

Miles Lake, far from safety, many prospectors were working. There are few lakes there. Whether they managed to outdistance the flames is problematical. No search can be conducted until the fire moderates.

James Bay Railway

Official Opening To Take Place On July 15th

Toronto, Ont.—Official opening of the railway line from Cochrane to the port of James Bay will take place July 15th, it was definitely announced, following a conference between Premier George S. Henry and George W. Lee, chairman of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway. Premier Henry is to drive the last spike on the line amid an elaborate ceremony.

Premier R. B. Bennett and Chief Justice E. R. Latchford, who drove the first spike in the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario line in 1902, are to be invited to attend.

Ruling Favors Indians

Alberta Game Act Allows Them Certain Privileges

Calgary, Alberta—Indians have an unrestricted right to hunt for food on unoccupied lands regardless of the Alberta Game Act, the Alberta Court of Appeal decided.

Mr. Justice McGillivray, who handed down the court's decision, said this ruling in no way implied that the provincial game act was ultra vires, but merely that it did not apply to Indians hunting for food on unoccupied government or other lands.

It is sometimes said that there will be a great diversity of interest at the conference," declared Mr. Coulter. "That is quite true, and it is always the case when great issues are at stake; but compromise and conciliation are familiar British traits of character, and solutions can be found for most problems."

The president's reference to the conference was made in the course of an address to the association at the final dinner closing the 61st annual convention here.

SHOULD AVOID THE DUPLICATION OF TAXATION

More Right Restrictions Are To Be Placed On Imports

Rome, Italy.—Rigid restrictions on the use of foreign wheat in Italy will become effective again next month, when millers will be required to use 95 per cent. of domestic wheat in the mixing of their flour, the government announced Thursday, June 9.

July 7 was fixed by decree as the date for enforcement of the order in southern Italy and the Province of Sicily. It will become effective in northern and central Italy on July 15.

Similar restrictions, imposed last year, were lightened gradually in the last few months.

Centenary Of Great Reform Bill Celebrated

Viscount Halifax Who Attended Personally Knew The Reformer

Newcastle, England—Celebrations opened here June 7, to commemorate the centenary of the great reform bill, attended by Viscount Halifax and his son, Lord Irvin, former president of India. Viscount Halifax, now 93 years of age, is probably the only living person who personally knew the reformer, the second Earl Grey, Prime Minister, who secured passage of the bill, and whose family is still actively associated with this area.

The resolution dealing with taxation called upon the association to co-operate by asking members and employees, as well as the public throughout Canada, to refrain from asking for public expenditures except those immediately necessary.

It urged members to assist their provincial and municipal governments in curtailing expenditures, thereby lessening the burden of taxpayers.

This would release large sums for use in agriculture and other basic industries.

The resolution was moved by F. C. Brown, Vancouver.

Mr. Brown also moved a resolution on unemployment, urging co-operation in reducing unemployment. It favored land settlement and supported controlled direct relief for those who cannot get work.

The election of officers at the concluding session of the association resulted as follows: President, W. C. Coulter, Toronto; first vice-president, George Henderson, Montreal, and L. L. Antes, Toronto, second vice-president, T. F. Monypenny, Toronto, treasurer.

The executive council includes:

Major E. G. Rogers, White Rock; H. B. Lyall, W. G. Fraser, Rose, J. Bulman, Winnipeg; J. D. Ross, Berry, The Pas, Man.; George Leach, Regina; Howard Jones, Saskatoon; T. G. Wood, Raymond, Alta.; C. A. Graham, Edmonton; H. Hutchings, Calgary; W. G. Armstrong, Medicine Hat, Alberta; R. Bell-Irving, J. B. Thompson, J. H. Rolfe, T. S. Dickson, H. MacLaren, G. E. Hermann, J. A. McFarlane, Vancouver; J. H. McDonald, New Westminster.

Chairmen of standing committees include: Tariff, J. O. Thorn, Toronto; transportation, W. S. Campbell, Toronto; commercial intelligence, W. R. Drynan, Hamilton, and publishing, A. Ross Robertson, Toronto.

MORE ASSISTANCE IS REQUIRED FOR BEAUHARNOIS

Montreal, Que.—If the Beauharnois power undertaking is to be carried to a successful conclusion and contracts for power delivery met with stipulated periods, further substantial amounts of money must be raised, the vice-president, Arthur F. White, told the second annual general meeting of shareholders of Beauharnois Power Corporation here.

The condition of the financial market has made new financing extremely difficult, and since the exhaustion of the initial bond issue proceeds, the corporation has relied on bank loans, the securing of which had been facilitated by the Dominion Government, Mr. White said. These loans, he stated, total about $16,000,000. For the balance of 1932 approximately $16,500,000 will be required, and requirements for the period 1933-37 will total about $9,500,000—a grand total of $32,500,000.

Members of the board, continued Mr. White, recognize that any plan of reorganization is dependent on further governmental assistance, and the government has intimated that it desires the collateral trust bonds held by the corporation to be converted into a representative committee before it can act to facilitate additional financing.

Empire Trade

We Import More Than Three Times As Much From Foreign Countries

Ottawa, Ont.—Canada, in the month of April imported more than three times the merchandise from foreign countries than she purchased from British Empire countries, according to a report issued recently by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The imports from foreign countries were valued at $23,340,662, and from British countries $6,453,734.

Canada sold in April, less than twice the goods to foreign countries that she did to British Empire countries. The exports to foreign countries totalled $17,534,426 and to British countries, $9,441,350.

Lotbiniere, Que.—Aroused over the most brutal murder here in years, the citizenry of Lotbiniere are aiding provincial police in seeking two men who caused the death of Simon Bernard, well known and popular notary. He had been beaten over the head when he resisted efforts of the intruders to make him aid them in robbing a branch of La Banque Provinciale.
